About This Game

One of the best FPS's of all time, Serious Sam sets itself apart from both the classic games in this genre, like Doom and Duke Nukem 3D, as well as from the very first arena shooters which first arose some time before its original release, like Unreal Tournament and Quake 3. In this game your skills of crowd control, weapon swapping, ammo conservation (on harder difficulties) and reflexes are more taxed than in other shooters, while little to no strategic thinking and map awareness is required most of the time. In many ways it feels like a bullet hell game, like Ikaruga, but with simple, yet charismatic and effective enemy types instead of bullets. Definitely give it a try if you like non-traditional FPS games.
